DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendment received on 7/9/03 has been entered. Claim 1 has been amended. Claim 25 has been cancelled. Claims 1-13 and 24 are pending. Claims 1-5, 12-13 and 24 are under current consideration.

Election/Restrictions

Claims 6-11 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR

1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 7.

Drawings

The drawings submitted on 6/20/03 have been approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, 1st paragraph

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-5, 12-13, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The previous rejection is maintained for the reasons of record advanced on pages 3-4 of the Office action mailed on 4/9/03.

Applicant's arguments filed 7/9/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants have argued that the Examiner has improperly read limitations directed to treatment and therapy into the instant claims. Applicants assert that the claims in no way impose limitations of therapeutic or prophylactic responses.

Applicants further argue that the claims are clearly directed to methods of generating an immune response and as such the possible effects (treatment or prevention) of the immune response and/or difficulties with gene therapy are not pertinent to the claimed subject matter. See pages 3-4 of the amendment.

In response, the Examiner asserts that the instant specification has not provided any uses for the claimed method than other for treating or preventing intracellular infections. It appears that the instant specification is replete with recitations related to treating or preventing intracellular infections with respect to the claimed invention but fails to provide other uses for the claimed invention. As such a proper interpretation of the claims encompasses generating immune responses resulting in treatment or prevention. The Examiner acknowledges that it may be improper to impose limitations from the specification on the claims. However, since it appears that the instant specification has not provided other uses for the invention as claimed it is proper to interpret the claims as discussed. Applicants are encouraged to point to other uses for the claimed methods disclosed in the instant specification in support of their assertions. It is further maintained that the instantly claimed invention embraces gene therapy, which is an unpredictable art. It is also maintained that the evidence of record has failed to provide guidance to overcome the unpredictability of the gene therapy art with respect to the full scope of the claimed invention. See pages 3-4 of the Office action mailed on 4/9/03.

Accordingly, the rejection is maintained for the reasons of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, 2nd paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74

(Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 12 recites the broad recitation parvovirus, and the claim also recites adeno-associated virus, which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. In the present instance, claim 12 recites the broad recitation virus, and the claim also recites hepatitis (genus) and feline immunodeficiency virus (FIV) (species), which are the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 13, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hu et al (AIDS Research and Human Retroviruses, 1991, 7(7): 615-620; IDS).

Hu et al teach a method of generating an immune response against HIV-1 in mice. Hu et al a combination vaccine regiment comprising administration of both a recombinant vaccinia virus expressing HIV-1 gp160 and a subunit gp160 immunogen. See the abstract, introduction on page 615, methods section, Table 1 on page 617, and throughout the document. Hu et al also teach that an immune response is generated when the subunit gp160 immunogen is administered prior to the recombinant vaccinia expressing HIV-1 gp160. The recombinant vaccinia virus is a nucleic acid expression vector as comprises a nucleotide sequence encoding and expressing HIV-1 gp160. The recombinant vaccinia virus comprises naked DNA, as the nucleotide sequence encoding HIV-1 gp160 appears to be free of proteins.

Thus, the teachings of Hu et al meet all of the instant claim limitations.
